WASHINGTON, June 12.—Plans for an agreement between counsel for K. Thaw and the State of New York to permit Thaw's removal to Hawaii were reported today.

It is no secret that the Supreme Court has been made, and was made, by the President. Even since the President has been elected, he has been making himself and his administration known to the Supreme Court by presenting such an agreement to the Supreme Court for its approval. William T. Jerome, representing the State, merely filed a brief in opposition to Thaw's application for leave on bail. He did not even ask the Court to grant him a hearing.

THE CITY AND ENVIRONS.

EVENTS BRIEFLY TOLD.

Jewish Confirmation.

At 10:30 tomorrow morning nine children will be confirmed at the Jewish Orphan's Home synagogue, Huntington Park, by Rabbi Sigmund Frey, licensed in San Francisco.

Louis Pallander of San Francisco and Martha G. K. Hyde of Los Angeles got a marriage license in the city yesterday.

Benefit Barbecue.

For the benefit of the St. Cecilia's school fund, a barbecue will be held by Mrs. K. Agure in the grounds of Huntington Park, by Rabbi Sigmund Frey, licensed in San Francisco.

The Greatest English Classic.

Beginning with next Sunday evening, Dean MacCormack is to give a series of four sermons on the "Great English Classic, the Bible." The first will be on the "Mystery of Its Birth." The sermons are to be given under the auspices of the Men's Forum.

Fruit Growers' Convention Coming.

The convention league has secured for this city the forty-fifth State Fruit Growers' convention, which will meet in November next. This will bring several hundred representatives from all parts of the State, and is a convention of considerable importance. Many other cities were bidding strongly for this meeting.

Kannas Box Social.

The Los Angeles Kannas Society will meet this evening at Federation Hall, No. 933 West Seventh street, for an old-fashioned "box" supper. All the ladies attending are asked to bring a small box lunch. There will also be dancing of the old-fashioned, as well as the modern kind.

Gould Officials Leave Today.

Nearly all the eastern representatives of the Gould lines, who have been sightseeing in Southern California the past four days, will leave for home today on the Salt Lake Pacific limited. The party spent yesterday in San Diego, seeing the exposition grounds and other places of interest, and will arrive here early this morning.

Music in Westlake.

Miller's Military Band will give the following programme in Westlake Park this afternoon from 2:30 to 4:15 o'clock: March, "The New House" (Taylor); selection, "The Burgomaster" (Mackie); waltz, "My Dream" (Walters); romance, "Salute de Amour" (Belger); overture, "Cyrano de Bergerac" (Mackie); march, "The Motor Maid" (Braham); medley selection, "Irish Airs" (Bendish); patrol, "The Blue and the Gray" (Daly).

Annual Audubon Meeting.

The California Audubon Society, of which Dr. David Starr Jordan is president, will hold its fifth annual meeting this afternoon at the Y.W.C.A. building, No. 261 South Hill street. At 2:30 o'clock Dr. Walter F. Taylor, curator of mammals at the University of California, will give his illustrated lecture on "Wild Life Conservation in the Past, Present and Future."

New Holders Officers.

The newly-elected officers of the Indiana State Society will be installed at a meeting of the society Tuesday evening in the Fraternity Brotherhood building, No. 545 South Hope street. They are O. H. Meunett, president; C. B. Lawler, vice-president; Mrs. Julia Musselman, secretary; C. A. Miller, treasurer; and J. L. Moon, A. M. Hadley, Mrs. Charles W. Ennis, Mrs. W. C. Schepsky and Mrs. Mary Hagen, directors.

Wants Her Boy.

Mrs. E. R. MacKenzie of No. 3231 London street appealed to the Times last night to aid her in finding her 15-year-old nephew, Forrest Lee Cummings, a pupil at Virgil-avenue intermediate school, who has been missing from the MacKenzie home since the 4th inst. While the boy has sent a typewritten letter saying he is safe and employed, Mrs. MacKenzie is not comforted and spends much time personally searching for the boy she has raised since he was 2 years old.

Will Make Merry Tonight.

The Southern California section of the Sierra Club will hold a monster bonfire rally and "roll" late this afternoon in Griffith Park. Permission has been granted for building fires to barbecue meats. Each member is to furnish his own provisions. Later in the evening speeches and songs around the campfire will be in order. The rally is planned to speed the departing club members on their annual summer outing in the high Sierras. Friends are invited. Go to Western-avenue entrance of Griffith Park, a quarter-mile walk to the picnic ground.

Law Graduates Admitted.

The following members of the graduating class in the law school of the University of Southern California were admitted to practice yesterday before the District Court of Appeal on their diplomas: Trent C. Anderson, Charles B. Bogue, Ruth R. Black, Albert W. Carlson, Harold W. Connel, Samuel P. Coy, Walter L. Engelhardt, Harry E. Fugleson, Edwin H. Haas, Charles W. Hall, Louis B. McWhirter, Vere R. Norton, George L. Reynolds, Robert C. Rivers, Edward J. Rives, Thomas T. Robinson, Frank C. Weller, John J. Wilson, Frank H. Jones, Walter F. Keen, Earl D. Kilham, May D. Lahey, Leon C. Lampton, Albert Launer, Frank R. Carroll, Perry M. Ling, Samuel H. Lyons, Mathilde E. Mack, Raymond M. McGrew, Arthur S. Mason, Hal P. Pearson, Herbert G. Polhill, Raymond W. Stewart, Glenn E. Tindler, Hugh N. Wells, Julius Hansen and Edward N. Metcalf.

After Nimble Penalties.

At the Triangle Club at the Y.M.C.A. this evening at 8:30 o'clock, Herman Byrnes, a member of the club and probably the youngest professional auctioneer in the city, will undertake to coax nimble pennies from the pockets of his fellow-members in a mock auction. Genuine merchandise, some valuable and otherwise, will be up for sale. No bids higher than a penny will be accepted. The proceeds will no doubt be turned over to the club treasury. The stereopticon views of the Y.M.C.A. camp, which could not be shown last week, will be displayed tonight, if possible.

Banquet for Graduates.

The annual banquet of the Alumni Association of the college of law, University of Southern California, for the graduating class was held last evening at the Los Angeles Athletic Club. About 200 members and friends of the association enjoyed a sumptuous repast and a splendid programme. Police Judge White, president of the Alumni Association, was toastmaster; Samuel P. Coy, president of the Students Body, spoke for the graduating class; and Hon. Kemper B. Campbell and Rev. J. Whitcomb Brougher made addresses. The college of law, which has just returned from the East, sang.

Beach Florist Dies.

SANTA MONICA, June 12.—Peter S. Williams died late last night as the result of a sudden attack of heart trouble at his home on Twenty-first street and Santa Monica boulevard. For ten years he had been a resident of this city, having been connected with the Golden State Floral Company, being one of the organizers of that concern. He was 49 years old and leaves, besides a widow, a son, George, who is now in San Francisco, and four sisters, Mrs. Robert P. Elliott of this city, Mrs. Nellie McGuire and Mrs. Peter Corson of Los Angeles, and Mrs. Kate Williams of Pomona, N. Y. He was a member of the Order of Mechanics, Los Angeles Tent No. 2, Kenosaw Post, G.A.R., and Sampson Lodge, Knights of Pythias.

HANDLESS MAN POISONED.

VENICE, June 12.—As the result of attempting suicide by swallowing a large dose of concentrated ammonia, Joseph Glasco, a painter, is in the Mildred avenue writing in pain. Glasco is a painter, who has been working for a local decorator. Some time ago he lost both his hands in an accident, but has been able to work almost the same as before. A few days ago he was arrested for disturbing the peace, and was given a suspended sentence of ninety days, and this, together with his misfortune, are thought to have caused the attempt to end life.

County Suit if County Delay the State Work for Two Years.

W. H. Smith, Sheriff of Los Angeles County, yesterday filed a suit in the Superior Court to prevent the State Highway Commission from proceeding with the construction of the new highway between Los Angeles and San Bernardino.

The suit is based on the fact that the State Highway Commission has failed to comply with the provisions of the State Highway Act, which requires that the commission must first obtain the approval of the county board of supervisors before proceeding with the construction of any new highway.

The suit is filed in the name of the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors, who are the plaintiffs, against the State Highway Commission, which is the defendant.

The suit is based on the fact that the State Highway Commission has failed to comply with the provisions of the State Highway Act, which requires that the commission must first obtain the approval of the county board of supervisors before proceeding with the construction of any new highway.

PLEDGE SUPPORT TO FREDERICKS.

Pasadena Republicans Behind His Candidacy.

Mass Meeting Plans Club for the Campaign.

Enthusiasm Shows Quickening of Party Pulse.

Pasadena Republicans went on record at a mass meeting last night as being in favor of the candidacy of Capt. Fredericks for Governor on the Republican ticket.

The meeting, held at the Board of Trade, was the fore-runner of a great demonstration in about ten days, when a Fredericks club will be organized by the Crown City Republicans.

Fred C. Fairbanks, son of the former Vice-President, was chairman of the meeting and was empowered to name a committee of ten, which will arrange the details of the organization to be added to the phalanx in California that is furthering the candidacy of Capt. Fredericks.

The Pasadena Republicans had been summoned on short notice, but the meeting brought out an enthusiasm, not only for Fredericks, but for the Republican party in general, that indicated a quickening of the party pulse in that neck of the woods.

The meeting brought speeches from Capt. Fredericks, who is the Republican candidate for Governor, and from other prominent Republicans, who remember the campaigns of Lincoln, some who tramped the highways of New England for Blaine, and young men who are still indignant over the crime of 1912.

Essentially, however, the candidacy of Capt. Fredericks for Governor was the underlying cause of the gathering.

LOGICAL CANDIDATE.

"As he seems to be the strongest and most logical candidate the Republicans have in the field, we want to do what we can here in Pasadena to see that he is nominated and elected," said Chairman Fairbanks.

F. C. Roberts said he knew of no more fitting place for a tribute to Capt. Fredericks than in Pasadena. "I know of no man to whom I can give more earnest support," he concluded.

WITH EXPOSITION PLANS FOR THE OLD DOMINION.

IT IS a new way of estimating travel, but the distance from the Virginia seaboard to California is just "Les Miserables" long. That is when the novel comes in three volumes.

Hon. W. W. Baker, chairman of the Virginia State Commission to the Panama-Pacific Exposition, found it so, and reported his discovery to the delegation of Chamber of Commerce members that attended the arrival of the train yesterday to meet the distinguished men from Virginia.

The members of the commission are Capt. W. W. Baker of Hallsboro, Va., Attorney Saxon W. Holt of Newport News, and Architect and Mrs. C. K. Bryant of Richmond. They were met by a Chamber of Commerce committee comprising John S. Mitchell, chairman; O. W. R. Robinson, William R. Flood, formerly of Lynchburg, Va., and E. W. McGee and Frank Wiggin.

When the Virginia delegation, which is to stay here until Sunday, arrived, Capt. Baker, a veteran of the Civil War, was the first off the Pullman. In one hand he carried a leather bag, under the other arm were three books.

The commission was made welcome to Los Angeles, to California and to the West. Hospitality is a living thing of their Virginia life, and they recognized it here. "Gentlemen," said Capt. Baker, speaking for the commission, "it was surely a long ride to get here, but it's worth it, and more, too. You surely do make me feel as if we were drawing into our home towns. A grand country, and I always thought the best country in the world, but I'll say,

NEW LAND OFFICE HEADS ARE NAMED BY WILSON.

John D. Roche and Alex Mitchell, Two of the Three Not Unsettled, Will Be Register and Receiver Respectively, as Reward for Conspicuous Bourbon Bravery.

Two hungry Democrats clambered up stools to the pie counter yesterday when President Wilson sent to the Senate for confirmation the names of John D. Roche of No. 344 Brent street for register and of Alex Mitchell of Glendale for receiver of the local land office. The jobs pay $3000 a year each.

Roche has been a street inspector for the Department of Public Works for four years, and Mitchell is a real estate dealer. Neither has been officially notified. Mr. Roche celebrated yesterday by attending a matinee, but Mr. Mitchell could not even do that, being confined to his bed by illness.

Both men are old-line Bourbons and both have been in politics almost from the time they were boys. Roche was president, and until he got a civil service job, was a member of the County Central Committee. Year after year in the convention days Mr. Mitchell was the delegate from his district, but not

DOUBLE BURST OF MELODY.

Eighteen Hundred Children's Voices in Two Concerts for Selves Only.

A mammoth double-barreled musical festival with kids both as all the audience and all the performers is the plan of the music department of the public schools. One of the two concerts will be held at the Los Angeles High School auditorium Tuesday, and the other on Wednesday at Manual Arts High. Eighteen hundred children will take part in the Wednesday concert, 1600 in the Tuesday concert.

Great choruses of hundreds of voices, in some cases all the children taking part at once, combined school orchestras of several hundred pieces, boys and girls' glee clubs, and solos, with some entertaining of the children by musicians of local note, will form the programme.

"There are to be no guests," said Miss Kathryn Stone, "the children will entertain each other." The objects of the concerts are to establish good comradeship and acquaintance among the little ones.

After deliberating three minutes the jury in the criminal court yesterday afternoon found W. L. A. Robertson, choir singer, guilty of grand larceny. Robertson appeared stunned when the verdict was announced.

Miss Minnie Benner of Pittsburgh, the complaining witness, smiled. Friends crowded about her and patted her and offered congratulations.

The foreman of the jury then handed her a written message from the jurors as follows: "As jurors and as men, you have our entire sympathy. It was brave of you to come 3000 miles to prosecute this man who, to save himself, attacked your character. God bless you."

Tears dimmed her eyes as she shook the hand of each juror. Miss Benner will leave next Tuesday for home, where she will enter a hospital and resume graduate work.

It was proved during the trial that Robertson had obtained $420 from the witness since last February. On the plea that he would use the money to buy off detectives whom he claimed had information that it made public, would ruin her reputation.

Deputy District Attorney Doran bitterly denounced the defendant in his argument. "This man prayed in church on Sunday and preyed on the poor, innocent girl week days. He is guilty and his cunning efforts on the witness stand to evade questions asked him doubly prove his guilt. He robbed this girl of her hard-earned money and now he must pay the penalty."

He will be sentenced Monday.

HE'S NOT A "FENCE."

Sam Martranza, an Italian charged with being a "fence" for a gang of crooks that has looted stores by the wholesale, was said by deputy sheriff Main streets. As the only store at that intersection is a general merchandise store, owned by E. S. Bonbright, a highly-respected merchant, his place has been looked upon with more or less suspicion by persons unfamiliar with the situation. Martranza's store, it has been learned, is in another part of the city, and Bonbright's store is anything but a "fence."

"GOD BLESS YOU," SAYS THE JURY.

COMMENDS COMPLAINT AND CONVICTS BLACKMAILER.

"Robertson Prayed in Church on Sundays and Preyed on This Innocent Girl on Week Days," the Statement of the Prosecuting Attorney.

EARNEST WORK TO HIGH GOAL.

Pomona College Toting to Increase Endowment.

Big Sum Is Needed to Make a Million Sure.

Seek to Announce Success on Commencement Day.

Every available bit of energy is being applied by officials and friends of Pomona College to raise $500,000 and thereby secure an additional $150,000 from the General Education Board of New York City. If successful this effort will give the Southern California college sufficient financial backing to rank with the foremost institutions of learning in the West.

In Los Angeles the Warren F. Day memorial fund of $50,000 has been half subscribed within the past few days and another week is expected to see it fully taken up.

Rev. Morris H. Turk, chairman of the committee in charge of the fund, is endeavoring to complete it by Wednesday in order that, on the evening of that day, the date of the annual commencement of the college, President James A. Blaisdell will be enabled to announce that $700,000 of the total sum is in sight. Successful effort will also afford Dr. William Horace Day, son of the late public-spirited pastor of the First Congregational Church, a unique welcome home from Europe.

As soon as the big sum is realized, which must be before January 1, 1915, according to the stipulation of the New York Board, $700,000 will be set aside as an additional endowment fund for the institution, which has been carrying on its work up to this time on a fund of only $550,000. The other $200,000 will be used in the erection of much-needed new buildings.

The students are alive to the needs of their alma mater and yesterday the men of the upper classes contributed $1185 toward the fund. Many of them are working their way through college.

The first of the needed buildings has already been completed in the Laguna Beach laboratory, located where it will be possible to study the life of the ocean with every facility. The immediate funds, aggregating $15,000, for this were raised through the efforts of J. J. Forbes, who is now getting the money needed.

CHICKERING

The Oldest in America The Best in the World

—Uprights—Grands—Players—

The Beautiful Anniversary Grand Model

—Progress has been the keynote of the Chickering record from the time that the Chickering piano astounded the world at the First Great World's Exposition, held at the Crystal Palace, London, in 1851, to the bestowal of the Cross of the Legion of Honor. And up to the present day each decade has witnessed the highest recognition, in every possible public manner, of the distinguished merit of the Chickering Piano.

—Jonas Chickering, Father of the American Piano Industry and founder of the House of Chickering, stands foremost in the history of the piano trade as the leading inventor; for this great and grand genius laid the foundation of America's supremacy throughout the world, in the art of piano construction.

THE CHICKERING OF TODAY

—Today in thousands of American homes the Chickering is a magnetic power around which center family and social gatherings.

This condition is not remarkable when we consider that investigation, research and experiment have been a part of the Chickering heritage, and there has been no halting on the vantage ground of victories won; but there has been a manifest desire to press forward to still higher accomplishments so that the ever-advancing musical taste of America's best might be admirably satisfied by progressive Chickering development.

You are cordially invited to inspect the new 1914 styles just received from the factory.

EPITAPH PENNED ACROSS HORIZON.

MAN WHO MADE OVER CITY'S SKYLINE IS DEAD.

Paul Haupt, Who Reared Hollingsworth, Trust and Savings, Union Oil, Central and Other Buildings Passes at Age of Sixty—Long and Successful Career.

After many fruitful years spent in the work of changing the city's skyline, and adding several prominent business blocks to the downtown district, Paul Haupt, one of the best-known contractors in Los Angeles, died at the family residence, No. 2416 South Figueroa street, yesterday morning. He had suffered for months from dropsy.

Mr. Haupt was a picturesque figure in the business history of Los Angeles. Coming here from Portland, Or., twenty years ago, he soon, by the merit of his work, won a place in the front rank of builders and contractors, and during his residence here erected a number of important business blocks.

Among the prominent buildings that were constructed by Haupt are the Hollingsworth, Bullock's Annex, Union Oil, Central, Trust and Savings, Edison buildings, and a number of public structures in Portland, Seattle and Tacoma.

Mr. Haupt was born in Germany in 1854 and came to America when a youth. He began his chosen profession in Minneapolis, later coming to the Pacific Coast, where he prospered notably. He died possessed of considerable property in Southern California. He leaves a widow, and three children, Miss Norma Haupt, Edward P. and William F. Haupt.

The funeral will be held early next week, with interment at Rosedale.

TO TRIAL ON TUESDAY.

Mall Fraud Case Against American Brokerage Company Expected to Take Rest of Term.

Unique charges of fraud by mail are those made against officials of the American Brokerage Company, arrangements for whose trial were completed by the United States District Attorney yesterday. Selling stocks on the installment plan, with payments as low as 10 cents a month, was the business of this corporation. It is alleged by the government that in many instances deliveries of the stock was not made after final payment had been made on the account.

The evidence will show that the concern had over 1000 customers, scattered all over the country, some residing as far east as Maryland, New York and Pennsylvania. About fifty of the alleged victims have been summoned by the government and the expense bill, including mileage and per diem, will amount to not less than $10,000.

The officers of the company were: F. W. Courtney, president; F. H. Woodruff, vice-president; W. A. Jordan, secretary; A. W. Allen, assistant secretary and counsel; A. E. Golden, director. They are all defendants under an indictment returned more than a year ago by the Federal grand jury. Several days ago Courtney came into court and asked the appointment of an attorney to defend him, saying that he had no money to hire a lawyer.

All of the features of a bucket shop are included in the charges of the government, and it is charged that the principals secured not less than $15,000. The trial will begin next Tuesday and it is expected that the balance of the January term of the United States District Court will be taken up by the hearing.

STRONG FOR JUDGE WILLIS.

Bankers Indorse Popular Jurist to Succeed Himself on the Superior Bench—Warm Words of Praise.

The following indorsement by financial men of Judge Willis's candidacy to succeed himself was made public yesterday:

Whereas, His Honor Frank R. Willis, as judge of the Superior Court during the last six years, has rendered a most distinguished service to the people of the county of Los Angeles and State of California and by prompt dispatch of public business, wise, just and impartial administration of the law has endeavored himself to all classes of our citizenship;

Resolved, That we hereby indorse his candidacy for re-election to the Superior Court bench and pledge him our most loyal support.

The document was signed by J. M. Elliott, president of the First National Bank; W. N. Hamaker, manager credit department, First National Bank; M. N. Avery, president of the German-American Trust and Savings Bank; Motley H. Flint, vice-president Los Angeles Trust and Savings Bank; O. M. Soudner, vice-president United States National Bank; P. W. Smith, cashier United States National Bank; J. C. Woolwine, assistant cashier United States National Bank; H. R. Koon, assistant cashier Los Angeles Trust and Savings Bank; Marco H. Hellman, vice-president Merchants' National Bank; A. Cox, assistant cashier Merchants' National Bank; Henry F. Armstrong, teller Merchants' National Bank; R. S. Heaton, cashier Merchants' National Bank; W. Bonyne, Jr., assistant cashier Merchants' National Bank; P. M. Snyder, president California Savings Bank; J. P. Andrews, vice-president German-American Trust and Savings Bank.

WARRANT FOR RUNAWAY.

Girl Found in North to Be Brought Back as Dependent—Mother Denies Cruelty.

Miss Madeline Bram, who mysteriously disappeared and was located in San Francisco, will be brought to Los Angeles on a warrant. A complaint charging her with being a dependent person was sworn out by Detective Nick Harris before Deputy District Attorney McCarty yesterday on the ground that Miss Bram had run off to San Francisco and was without parental protection.

On this complaint Judge Taft was sought to have a warrant issued for the arrest of the girl. If she is brought here she will probably be taken into the juvenile court and proceedings taken for the appointment of a guardian.

Mrs. Ada Bram, foster mother of the girl, yesterday denied statements made by Madeline that she had been mistreated at home. The girl said she would not return to Mrs. Bram.

A telegram to Chief Sebastian from Acting Chief of Police Shay of San Francisco early this morning said the girl was held in the juvenile detention home there on an affidavit for a hearing.

Paul Haupt, Contractor for many important Los Angeles business blocks, who died at his home here yesterday.

WOMAN IS MINT FOR SWINDLERS.

FEDERAL GRAND JURY INDICTS
MEN WHO POSE AS OFFICERS.

The Federal grand jury yesterday returned indictments against P. M. Reidy and Sol Alexander, charging conspiracy to represent themselves as government officers, in the swindling scheme that involved Mrs. Mary T. Eeles of Long Beach.

The accused men are already in custody at Baltimore, Md., and a copy of the indictment will be sent there immediately, and an effort made to have them removed here for trial. It is understood that both men will make a strong fight resisting the proposed order of removal.

It is alleged in the indictment that Alexander represented himself to be a Federal officer, and that at various times, beginning February 14, last, and continuing to March 6, last, he secured from Mrs. Eeles various sums, amounting in the aggregate about $1300, the largest payment being made February 25, when he received $500, from the woman. It is charged that the money was paid by Mrs. Eeles on the representation of Alexander that, as a Federal officer, he could secure the arrest of Thomas A. McCullough, who had just before swindled her out of about $15,000.

The connection of Reidy comes in when Mrs. Eeles went to the Long Beach Bank to secure the $3000 that was afterward handed over to Alexander, it being alleged that Reidy loaned her the money on a mortgage covering a lot lying on the strand near the Hotel Virginia. Reidy met Mrs. Eeles at the bank and introduced himself, asking her if she was the woman who wanted the money on the mortgage. It is the theory of the government that the money was furnished by Reidy, Alexander afterward getting it, or that Alexander gave it to Reidy to use in getting the trusting woman in line. Either way, it was a case of "divvy." It is charged that Reidy knew of the representations of Alexander to the woman, and co-operated with him to swindle her.

Under the very peculiar statute as to conspiracy, it may be difficult to show the connection of Reidy, and in that case Alexander would go free, as both must be convicted under the Federal law in a conspiracy case; at least, more than one person must be so convicted.

If the State insists upon punishing Alexander and Reidy it is likely they will be turned over to the authorities if the government is successful in getting them back to California.

SCHOOL GRADUATION.

McKinley-Avenue Intermediate to Send Fifty Boys and Girls Out a Week from Tuesday.

The graduation of fifty students of McKinley-Avenue Intermediate School will occur on Tuesday, June 23, at the school building. Other graduation festivities are the concert to be given by the musical department to the graduating class on Wednesday and Thursday, June 17 and 18, and the annual A.S. class party on June 19. On the latter occasion the library will be decorated in the class colors, green and gold, and refreshments will be served in the cafeteria. Besides games, the class prophecy will be given by three girls, Muriel Creech, Harriet Vanderveit and Helen Taylor, impersonating three witches. Wayne Abel will read the class prophecy.

Following is the graduation programme: Orchestra, "Stars and Stripes"; oration, "The School and the Peace Movement"; George Stender, selection, "Invictus" (Huhn); Boys' Glee Club, address, Supt. J. H. Francis; vaudeville; McKinley-Avenue school, Chas. Brown, presentation of diploma; Principal A. C. Brown; orchestra, "Futurity March."

The concert programme contains the following numbers: Orchestra, "The Irish Melody"; chorus, "Wienedlied" (Bahms); chorus, "Anchored"; duet, Edith Smart and Margaret Case, Boys' Glee Club, "O'er the Hills"; Margaret Case, Edith Smart and Eleanor Klages; chorus, "Du bist wie eine Blume"; German class duet, Lorenz Baker and Sibyl Scott; unchanged voice chorus of boys, "Viking Song"; girls' chorus, "Spring Song"; Girls' Glee Club, "Amaryllis"; school song, "Pippa's Song."

Three music organizations, Girls' Glee Club, Boys' Vocal Club and Boys' Unchanged Chorus are to give a musical programme at East Vernon-Avenue School next Friday evening.

FLAG DAY IN SCHOOLS.

Patriotic Programmes by Youngsters of Many City Institutions to Be Given Monday.

Flag Day will be generally celebrated in the schools on Monday, next, according to instructions sent out by Supt. Francis. In some cases, however, for the sake of convenience in arranging programmes, schools celebrated yesterday. Among these were Vernon-Avenue and Hoover-street schools.

Stories of the flag, patriotic music, readings and essays will comprise the programmes, with occasional tableaux and some correlation of the celebration with geography, history and art.

Children of the cardboard construction department will make tiny tissue paper flags, and the school gardens will furnish flowers to make floral flags and other decorations.

"THE TIMES" SCHOOL OF DOMESTIC SCIENCE.

FRUIT CAKE will be baked at The Times School of Domestic Science today.

Everyone knows that if it were not for the timely warnings which the up-to-date nurseries send out, such as—"now is the time to plant sweet peas, etc."—that there would be many a bungalow minus the fragrant hedge of posies which, although they blossom in the spring, must be planted in the fall. So it follows very naturally that the little warning which Mrs. Bertha Hafner-Ginger, who is conducting The Times school, let fall to her class Thursday, will be greatly appreciated by the forgetful ones.

"Now is the time to make your fruit cake," said Mrs. Hafner-Ginger, and the class applauded. "It is too warm to shop, and there will be lots of spare time when you can find a cool, shady place and prepare the fruit without much exertion; or, if you are too indolent you can get almost all of your fruit prepared and ready for use, and an effort made to have them removed here for trial. It is understood that both men will make a strong fight resisting the proposed order of removal."

The Times cooking lessons have been very popular ones, thanks to Mrs. Hafner-Ginger, and the housewives who have attended them are proud in their praise of the work.

There has never been a lesson during the whole year that has not had many features that proved profitable to some of the ladies who attended the class.

Today's lesson will commence promptly at 2 o'clock p.m., and on account of the length of the lesson all are urged to be prompt.

The mocha cake, which will of course, be "dressed" up in the very latest style, will be served while the big fruit cake is baking. Plenty of the delicious coffee, such as only Mrs. Hafner-Ginger makes, will be served with the cake.

JURY UNABLE TO AGREE.

Stand Nine to Three in Federal Court for Conviction of Attorneys on Blackmailing Charge.

The jury of the Federal Court in the case against Charles S. McKelvey and W. H. Stevens, local attorneys, charged with attempting to blackmail W. H. Evans of Monrovia and Kyle MacBratney of El Centro, returned to the United States District Court yesterday morning, after an all-night session, and with the report that they were unable to agree. The panel was discharged by Judge Wellborn, and the case will be reset at the coming July term of the local Federal Court.

It is claimed that there was no change in the minds of any of the jurors from the second to the final ballot, it standing nine to three in favor of the conviction of both men. Under the conspiracy law it was necessary to convict more than one of the defendants, and as the evidence against McKelvey was not as strong as it was in the case of Stevens, three members of the jury hung out for acquittal.

Y.W.C.A. LOCKERS RIPTED.

Detectives are trailing sneak thieves who yesterday broke open the girls' lockers at the Y.W.C.A. building, looting them of several hundred dollars' worth of jewelry and some money. Among the articles of jewelry taken was a $150 diamond ring, a cameo ring and a silver mesh.

A pocketbook containing money is also missing.

HOLSUM

The bread of certain cleanliness and purity. Its flavor and uniformity has set the standard in Los Angeles for four years.

Why?

Because it is NOT made with our own yeast. We make no pretenses as yeast makers. We leave that to the specialist who has millions of dollars invested in laboratories and factories to do nothing else but manufacture yeast.

Every up-to-date, modern bakery in the country uses compressed yeast and 95 per cent of all the bread made is made with it. The constant uniformity of "Holsum" is largely due to the splendid compressed yeast used by us.

Then again—

We are entertaining hundreds of visitors here every week. Last Wednesday alone we entertained 248 ladies. The impression made on our visitors would be poor, indeed, were they to see barrels and casks of sour vegetables in the process of fermentation and then see the liquor from this mass used in our bread as yeast.

We advertise this bakery as strictly modern in every respect and as clean as any housewife's kitchen. Therefore we use nothing but clean, pure yeast, and are prepared to furnish scientific proof of its superiority for use in bread.

We use no old fashioned or unclean methods.

Remember HOLSUM Bread is made clean—sold clean—delivered clean.

Try the new 5c size.

Just say HOLSUM Jr. to the grocer.

GLASS HOUSES.
 They say that glass will soon come into popularity as a building material. We see no sense in this. Doesn't everybody live in a glass house as it is?

A BEAUTIFUL NAME.
 We don't blame Portland for sticking to the name of Rose City. The rose is the symbol of poets forever. They used 3,000-600 buds in a parade up there Wednesday. Pasadena Rose Festival please copy.

STRAINING NATURE.
 Down in Imperial Valley a man has taken 20,000 crates of cantaloupes from an eighty-acre ranch and sold them at an average of a dollar a crate. He is afraid to look his bank account in the face for fear he will wake up.

A POLITE NATION.
 The sailors of the Japanese squadron were presented with 1500 Bibles at San Francisco. Being polite and also unprepared to resist the attack they did not present the Americans with 1500 copies of the sayings of Confucius or the gospel of Gautama.

SHOCKING LANGUAGE.
 Secretary Bryan is credited with saying, or rather accused of saying, that "Caranza is a damned ass." It is to be hoped that the accusation is unfounded, for the remark is not creditable to Mr. Bryan either as a diplomat, a Chautauqua lecturer or a Presbyterian.

HE KNOWS BETTER.
 President Wilson is considering the professor of banking and finance of Harvard University as a probable appointee to the Federal Reserve Board. We would think that the President's experience with colleges and college men would warn him against taking such a step.

OUT OF HIS SPHERE.
 President Wilson is going to inspect the Panama Canal. What for? He is certainly not personally interested. He never built it and he is unwilling for American ships to pass through it. We hope they make him pay double toll every time an English collector gets sight of him.

BEING PREPARED.
 It has always been a source of grief to us to note how few of our fellow-citizens are prepared for heavy snowstorms. Not a dozen of our best-to-do families have any outfit suitable for excursions to the North Pole or a picnic in Greenland. We venture to say that there are not twenty pairs of skis in good shape in this city. What about striking an iceberg in this condition?

THE SIMPLEST EVER.
 There now exists in England a general public desire to get rid of the suffragettes by permitting them to starve themselves to death. That will be about all for the hunger strike. Give a woman permission to do what she doesn't want and she won't. The minute the hunger strike ceases to be something that is picturesquely resisted it will no longer figure in the suffragette programme. The ladies will be profoundly insulted by the permission to starve at their own sweet will.

NECESSARIES.
 You can always tell them from luxuries because you do not want them so much and you generally have them charged while paying cash for something you don't need. Many a man whose street hat looks like the Dickens has $7 tied up in a silk stovepipe that he will not wear twice a year. We know a man who knows a girl who has several pairs of party shoes and silk stockings to match, when the heels are out of the "three-for-fifty" hose she wears around the house. There is a pious woman in this town who prides the Lord in a $25 coat on Sunday, but who looks like a fright when her husband comes home to supper during the week. If people were fair about necessities the luxuries would take care of themselves.

TAR AND WATER FOR I.W.W.'S.
 The Citizens' Committee of Tarrytown, N. Y.—500 strong—has no toleration for the I.W.W. When the Socialist leader and orator, Alexander Berkman, planted himself upon that section of the Constitution which guarantees free speech, and announced his intention of addressing the citizens in Fountain Square, the Citizens' Committee spread tar an inch deep all over the square and thereby effectually prevented the meeting.

The orator announced that he would hold the meeting the next day on the bank of the Hudson River, and the committee notified the I.W.W. that the place selected was an ideal spot for ducking obnoxious agitators of anarchy and those who supported them. They said that the water was but four feet deep and the pier, 200 feet long and the committee would be on hand to cool the ardor of rioters by throwing them into the river.

The meeting of I.W.W.'s was indefinitely postponed.

J. Ham Lewis has dropped the J. from his name, and will hereafter be known as plain Hamilton-Lewis. You may break, you may shatter the name if you will, but the scent of the Ham will hang round it still. Read your Tom Moore.

"MAY HAVE."
 If Congress had contented itself with simply repealing the Panama tolls exemption bill and let it go at that, it might have been claimed that the repeal was made on purely economic grounds; that it was done in order to increase the canal revenues and do away with the subsidizing of our ocean marines.

This would have satisfied the overland railroad companies who, by the repeal, are enabled to add $1.30 per ton to the freight charges on every ton of freight carried between the East and the West and the West and the East. But it would not have satisfied the British Foreign Office, which furnished the club that the railroads flourished over the heads of Wilson and his Congress. It was necessary in order to satisfy British demands that the United States should acquiesce in the British interpretation of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty and admit that Great Britain has an equal right with ourselves to participate in the management and control of the canal built by our own engineers, with our own money, through our own territory.

This has been done. Congress is on its subject knees to Wilson, and Wilson is prostrate in the dust at the feet of King George. All of which was accomplished by using the auxiliary verb "may have" to qualify the verb "has." Instead of saying in manly and unmistakable English "the United States does not waive the right it has to exempt American ships from the payment of tolls through the Panama Canal" or saying nothing at all on the subject, Congress says "the United States does not waive any right it may have to exempt American ships from payment of tolls."

MAY HAVE? Suppose the Declaration of Independence had read "All men may have been created free." Suppose that the Constitution provided that taxation "may" be equal and uniform. Suppose that a real estate deed should declare that the grantor "may" be the owner in fee of the premises conveyed? What would be the effect of a judgment of a court that the defendant "may" be indebted to the plaintiff, or the verdict of a jury that the accused "may" be guilty? How many eggs would a grocer sell who assured his customer that "these eggs may be fresh"? What would be said of a father who declared to the world that his daughter "may" be virtuous?

The Times is glad to note that all of the Republican Senators from this Coast—Jones and Poindexter of Washington, and Perkins and Works of California and one Democrat—element Henry Ashurst of Arizona—voted against the "may have" surrender. Pittman of Nevada and Mark Smith of Arizona voted, with the Nevada Democrats, in favor of a surrender to the British and railroad combination. The Nevada Senators "may" not be so sharply criticized as the others, for Nevada is a pocket borough which has always been railroad property—politically, morally, socially, financially and commercially.

But Senator Marcus A. Smith of Arizona knew better and should have done better. He was said to be with the interests of his State for a time and against the repeal bill, and then—

"Just for a handful of silver he left us,
 That and a ribbon to put on his coat."
 But he probably won't get the ribbon, for the voters of Arizona, of whatever politics, are not either railroad satraps or Anglo-manics, and in November next they will simply wipe the ground with Mark.

The tolls exemption law will be restored, if not by the sixty-fourth Congress overriding a veto by Wilson, then by the sixty-fifth Congress sustained by Wilson's Republican successor. The American people will repudiate the "may have" concession to Great Britain. Some of them because they would like to aid in the restoration of our commerce to the seas; others because they want the benefit of lower freight rates, both by land and water, and others who, caring nothing either for freight rates or the growth of our mercantile marine, act in indignation at the action of Woodrow Wilson in placing salt on the beautiful tail of the American Eagle and fettering him to a hind leg of the British lion.

CRACKING THE ROYAL DYNASTY.
 The suffragettes have dealt a vital blow to the royal house of England. In destroying the historic Coronation Stone, which has played so sacred, so superstitious a part in the crowning of the kings of England since the twelfth century, they have awakened all the old wives' fables, all the deep-seated beliefs in the old legends with which the stone is associated.

For seven centuries the stone has been regarded as a symbol of monarchical greatness, integrity, infallibility, ultimate dominance in the world of the British kings—the emblem of greatness and of safety. So long as the stone remained intact, guarded and revered, so long would the royal house of Britain stand.

And now, after a history which extends back to Jacob's Dream of biblical history in 830 B.C., the stone has been broken—the stone upon which Jacob's head is said to have rested while he slept.

It is claimed by the historians that this stone is absolutely authentic; that it was brought to Ireland by Jeremiah with the daughter of Zedekiah, who married the reigning King of Dan-ite Ulster and became the Princess Royal of Judah.

And with the stone gone Zedekiah, the blind King of the Jews, lost his kingdom and was killed.

It is traced completely down to Kenneth McAlpin, King of Scotland, 859 A.D., who was a direct descendant of Conn of a Hundred Battles, whose daughter married into the Scottish line. And when Henry II took the stone to Scotland in the eleventh century the power of the Irish kings was broken.

It was brought out of Scotland by Edward I in 1272 A.D., when Scottish monarchy began to lose its greatness and which was to end in submergence in England.

The Sacred Stone has been the great symbol upon which the royal houses of England have based their claims to heavenly ordination, to divine right. For it may not be generally known that King George V of England has a scientific genealogy clear back to Adam and Eve (including Anna, cousin of the Virgin Mary) in which at least half of his subjects implicitly believe.

And the Sacred Stone has been the one piece of tangible evidence, the embodiment of the righteous claim, like a woman's wedding ring.

It will readily be seen, therefore, that the suffragettes have attacked the royal coronation chair with diabolical subtlety. In the practical age of the twentieth century superstition is thought to hold small place; but deep in our hearts we are all superstitious. The suffragettes have attacked the throne in a vulnerable spot, and if psychology counts for anything, the occurrence will go far to undermine monarchical assurance in England today.

Coming as it does when the prerogative of the crown has been under such fierce fire, when Ulster, which claims to have been the first British home of the famous stone, is in rebellion after appealing in vain to the King to veto the home rule bill, when the House of Lords has been shorn of its power and its dignity, when the whole world is restless and democratic, inclined more to anarchy than to monarchy—it is an ominous time for the cracking of the Sacred Stone of Scoria.

BANKRUPTCY FOR RAILROADS.

The leading railroad men of the country—according to the Washington correspondent of the New York Times—see in the proposed anti-trust law a menace of bankruptcy for the railroad companies. President Lovett of the Union Pacific, President Ripley of the Santa Fe and General Counsel Harris of the New York Central take substantially the same view.

The Union Pacific owns every share of the Oregon Short Line, by which the road gets from Salt Lake City to Portland. The anti-trust law would prohibit a person from serving on more than one railroad board without the consent of the Interstate Commerce Commission. Under the proposed law the Union Pacific and the Oregon Short Line could not have the same traffic officers, the same president and the head of the system could not unify his management. The law would prevent the standardizing of equipment, of maintenance and operation. It would mean the turning of the wheels of progress backward and destroying the continuity of management.

Should the bill pass and the law be enforced, the New York Central would terminate at Buffalo, the Pennsylvania would be cut in two at Pittsburgh, the Baltimore and Ohio would terminate at Parkersburg, W. Va., and the Southern Pacific would be divided into seven or eight parts.

Where would be the benefits to the public of divorcing railroad properties and breaking up the continuity of management? Another objectionable feature of the meddlesome and complicated anti-trust law is that which prevents the issuance of new securities by a railroad company, except where they are "necessary" in the public interest to the proper performance of its service to the public.

This provision would absolutely prohibit the purchase of a branch line, for such purpose could not be considered "necessary" in the public interest to the proper performance of its service to the public.

It is a practice of all railroads to make improvements out of cash on hand and afterwards restore this cash to its treasury by the sale of bonds. This practice the anti-trust bill would prevent, and a railroad company could not sell a bond without first obtaining permission from the Interstate Commerce Commission and stating in advance exactly what it proposed to do with the money.

The proposed law would usurp many State functions and deny to the railroads the right to exercise privileges given to them by the States, while at the same time it would not take away the State supervision by providing Federal incorporation.

The law would put a dead stop to the construction of new branch lines and roads in the wilderness.

The provision of the law compelling all directors' meetings to be held in public is objectionable. Suppose they wanted to discuss the purchase of a branch line, or of a coal mine, or how to deal with a pending labor trouble, of what use would it be to hold the discussion in a public hall? The law would make business secrets impossible.

The trend of legislation by Mr. Wilson's caucus-rules and administration-dominated

Congress is to place every possible impediment in the way of "big business," to find out what a capitalist wants to do and then pass a law to prevent him from doing it. The trust-busting law would check development, would weigh down natural progress, would pull against natural advance and would result in general disadvantage.

WILSON'S PSYCHOLOGY.

President Wilson is enamored of academic phrases, and he thinks probably that he has said something at once philosophical and original when he characterizes the present depression in business as "psychological" and "not in anywise due to the tariff."

Webster defines psychology as "the science of the human soul." Sir William Hamilton says it is the "science of the mind." It is a distinction without a difference, because Webster defines soul as "that part of man which enables him to think," and he defines mind as "the power that conceives, judges or reasons; the entire spiritual nature; the soul."

Everything that affects human hopes and fears, that begets confidence and courage, or distrust and shrinking is psychological.

President Wilson is right—although he does not know it—in saying that the cause of the present depression in business is psychological, for it is a state of mind. But it is a state of mind begotten of a cause, and that cause is the experiments—the antics, so to speak—of Wilson and his Congress in industrial legislation. It is a state of mind which cannot be hypnotized from gloom into cheerfulness and which cannot be dispelled by Christian Science or any kind of faith cure.

The cotton or woolen spinner who has been compelled by Wilson's tariff to close his factory; the lumber maker whose saws have ceased to scream; the Louisiana sugar mill is closed; the sheep owner whose flocks will not pay for clipping; the farmer who has changed his crop from profitable beets to less profitable corn; the banker whose deposits and loans are both curtailed; the merchant whose shelves are loaded with American-made goods which foreign importations compel him to sell at a loss; the capitalists who are menaced with bankruptcy, and the million workers who have lost their jobs are all in a depressed state of mind which the Princeton philosopher not inaccurately describes as "psychological."

The depression in business has been caused by Mr. Wilson's reckless meddling with business—mercantile, manufacturing, railroading, banking and agricultural business. With his tariff and trust laws he has plunged, and is plunging, them all into the vortex of that uncertainty which is the direct foe of prosperity.

Great industrial and commercial enterprises—says the New York Times—are kept in an uncertain state of mind by the menace of restrictive legislation and too much "regulation" of what they can do and how they must do it. Those engaged in them do not know what to count upon, but they do know that some of the things proposed will hamper and embarrass their efforts and make business harder and less profitable to do. For the time being they are forced to get on "from hand to mouth" until they know how things are coming out, and then they will have to do the best they can.

If President Woodrow Wilson would only consent to psychologize into his swollen cabes the idea that business men understand the conditions under which business can be successfully conducted a great deal better than he ever did or ever can or ever will there would be greater hope for the land.

Oh, how the man in the White House needs a mind cure!

What, cheating among the English royal family in a quiet game of cards? The next thing we know the King will be accused of hunching in Kelly pool, or counting too many buttons on a billiard string.

Mexicans are complaining of the high cost of living in Vera Cruz. But the condition is only "psychological."

BRINGING UP PARENTS.

BY EUGENE BROWN.

Every now and then the persistent thought strikes me that children are not as careful and judicious about bringing up their parents as they used to be. They are letting them run wild and hunt for themselves, and there is a mutual carelessness and irresponsibility in which the tie of relationship is well-nigh lost. They trot along in vagabond independence of one another.

When Tom goes to the prize fight he never asks his father to accompany him, and when Mabel frescoes herself and spins out to the dance hall for a little souse she never thinks of taking poor mother along. Instead of that the old lady has to sulk by herself or else go off to the Eugene Club, where they tango, talk and take tea. The old man keeps his private box of cigars, and the offspring has his own cellophane in his den. Even the brother and sister fail to travel in pairs and after the whistle blows they all scurry in different paths—perhaps to meet again at the breakfast table, provided they all get home.

In former years the father of the flock was invariably held responsible for the debts and damages of his young down to the last playmate, and this obligation continued until the offspring reached men's estate, but nowadays Tom's bar bill or cigar account is never sent to the old man, even if it passes quite beyond the youth's capacity for liquidation. The girls work the head of the house for many expense items aside from their apparel, but nevertheless there are many things that the senior wots not of.

Within the last few days the news columns have recorded half a dozen local instances in which girls of tender years but tough impulses have been involved with men of varying age with the unpleasant results of arrests, punishment and, worst of all, publicity. Possibly if these juveniles had had their mothers along with them some of these unsavory incidents would never have happened. Nothing so discourages promiscuous and unprofitable love-making as having the old lady around, butting in for her share or else wanting to know what it's all about.

Besides the publicity the male offenders are also oft punished by the law—punished sometimes beyond their just deserts. It would seem that no punishment could be too severe, and yet the way some of these "little buds" participate in the chase is so hard for a red-blooded person to be a gentleman and still scorn their advances. A susceptible young man ought really to be chained in the cellar nights to spare him from the desperate allurements of these baby-faced wantons.

Another factor in the strained relationships of families is noted. Nowadays when a boy doesn't like his father or objects to his behavior he draws his trusty gun and shoots him so full of holes that he leaks all over the place. Then he calmly sits down and telephones for the Coroner. I am not yet 90 years old, but I can still remember the time when it was considered poor taste for any lad to assassinate his parent. He would be at least suspended from school or have his artillery taken away from him. But nowadays when the remains are cleaned up and the house tidied a bit the neighbors begin to send in flowers.

In other days the old man was frequently boss of the flock. There was such a thing as corporal punishment, and old-fogy preachers would sometimes talk about spanking the rod and spilling the child. If a youth cursed in the hearing of his elders or threw rocks through the kitchen window the father would lead him firmly to the barn and paddle him with a barrel stave or a strap until his yelps could be heard for a city block. Possibly the parent might excuse himself by saying it hurt him worse than his offspring, but he knew better all the time, and for the next few days the boy would have welts on the base of his carcass that looked as if he had sat on a hot griddle.

The girls get theirs, too. Even a young lady of 18 was not wholly immune from a real spanking, and many a mother four thousand miles from Sparta has warmed up a recent daughter when occasion seemed to demand it—and has polished a bed-slat in the doing. In these days if mother should really attempt to chastise little Mabel that sophisticated child would either haughtily leave the house or telephone for the police.

When she gets her own latch key now and when she gets through her tagalong and all the other places are closed she is brought home in a taxicab by some man whose name she cannot now recall. To ride half the night in a sizzling motor car with a flirtatious stranger is no unusual experience to Mabel and the parents have adopted the simple and frictionless system of letting her have her own way and selecting her own companionship and environment. If anybody should give Mabel one of Louis M. Alcott's books or ask her to go to Sunday-school she would snort: "Gee! none of the dead ones for me." She has heard that white slaves ride in Pullman cars and eat high-spiced food and she wants to grow up and be one.

There is a sudden lull when the tragedy comes and the parents sniffle and exclaim: "Who could have thought it of our Mabel!" Well, everybody else on the street thought it and knew it, but of course had not said anything about it because they were not hunting for trouble. Nothing can be more cutting and disagreeable than a mother who knows her Mabel is a perfect little lady—even if she is a souse and a cigarette fiend.

It is the general belief that the world is growing better, and high-priced divines are weekly delivering sermons along these altruistic lines. But perhaps it is not wholly true. Maybe it is the viewpoint that is changing. It is like the evanescence of party platforms. What one generation views with alarm the next points to with pride. The girl of the kitchen, the sewing circle and the prayer meeting is displaced by the one of the dance-hall, the highball and the cigarette. Yet she is viewed with the same complacent admiration on the part of parents and acquaintances, and it is only when the notoriety of courts and public prints attach to her that there is an awakening.

If society and the law were to hold parents strictly responsible for the frailties and the shortcomings of their children there would at least be a more careful supervision of them. They might occasionally know where they are at all events. It would be pretty hard on the old man for a week or two, but the exercise might do him good.

Spogoning places in the public parks of Denver are favored. It might be well to provide some location where courting in the open might be safely carried on, seeing that it cannot be prevented any more than it is possible to control the tides.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

The Council yesterday adopted the report of its Public Utilities Committee, instructing the City Attorney to prepare the notice of sale for the Pacific Electric elevated structure to connect the Sixth-street depot with the San Pedro-street line, in accordance with agreements reached with President Shoup of the Pacific Electric Company.

The Public Utilities Committee of the Council decided yesterday to recommend that only sixty days time shall be given the Los Angeles Railway Corporation within which to complete its cross-town line on Vernon avenue, by constructing its tracks across the four-track system of the Pacific Electric on Long Beach avenue.

The Board of Public Works decided yesterday to order the Pacific Electric Company to lower its four-track line on Long Beach avenue to official grade at all street crossings, and to make application within thirty days for a franchise that will legalize two of the existing tracks or tear up such tracks.

The assessment roll for remodeling the Broadway tunnel was approved by the Board of Public Works yesterday. The total amount to be raised for this improvement is $235,180.75.

A contractor after leasing a property at Vernon, found the place inclosed and the gate locked. He alleges in a court complaint that he climbed the enclosure, but was ordered off by an indignant woman, and now he seeks to join her from interfering with his business.

Positive evidence that J. W. Byrnes, now charged with grand larceny, once operated fake poolrooms at Hermosa Beach was given during his trial in Judge Finlayson's court.

At the City Hall.
WAY FOR L-ROAD CLEAR AT LAST.

NOTICE OF SALE OF FRANCHISE AUTHORIZED BY COUNCIL.

Agreements Reached Between the President of Pacific Electric and Public Utilities Committee Indorsed Unanimously and Bids to Be Opened Last of Month.

It really begins to look as though the Pacific Electric Company will be permitted to construct its elevated structure east of the Sixth-street depot, to connect the station with the city-owned line on San Pedro street, operated under lease by the company. Many weary months back the movement was started; the money has been appropriated long since by the company for this purpose, and it has been anxious to have the work carried through in order to be prepared for handling the traffic in 1915. Business men on Main street were also extremely anxious to have the structure hurried through, so as to relieve traffic congestion on Main street.

The Public Utilities Committee yesterday gave its approval to the final agreement and referred the matter to the City Engineer, who was instructed to prepare the notice of sale in accordance therewith and submit it to the Council today in conjunction with the committee's report.

The Council yesterday afternoon adopted the report, and the notice of sale will be advertised next Tuesday. Bids on the franchise will be opened on June 23.

The two particular points settled in the final agreement were that there should be no value attached to the franchise in case the city should take over the property within the tenure of the franchise and that the company is not shut out of entering suit for damages to the remainder of its properties should the city take this action, which will be the terms of the proposed elevated structure system reaching out to the city limits on the south end to the Arroyo de las Pomas on the east.

The Municipal League contended for the abandonment of trackage into the front of the Pacific Electric depot and the turning of the Glendale cars into the company's private property from East Sixth street.

This is considered impracticable, as the company proposes to maintain some of the local car lines on Main street, even after the elevated structure is in use. As to the Glendale line, President Shoup submitted to the committee the following statement:

As to the operation of our Glendale cars into the Pacific Electric building recently discussed with you, during the hours of congestion there are now handled on Sixth street east of Main street, being taken into the building only during the hours of lighter traffic. The use of Sixth street, of course, is only a temporary expedient.

As explained to you, the Pacific Electric Railway Company has either directly invested or is paying interest upon a very large investment to relieve the congestion on Main street. Though it is only one of several factors creating such congestion, the burden, as you know, up to this time has fallen wholly upon the Pacific Electric.

I am unable now to increase this burden by using our terminal property east of Los Angeles street for the Glendale cars, but as soon as conditions make it possible for us to make an appropriation for that purpose, it is proposed to divert the Glendale cars from the entrance into the Pacific Electric building.

In the meantime I will have to ask your co-operation and that of the public in meeting the situation as it now is. I trust you will feel that our willingness to meet the problem of congestion has already been evidenced by works.

Property owners within the district now have thirty days in which to file protests on the assessments.

The total amount to be collected is $235,180.75. Of this amount the district ages awarded total $36,615.75; the incidental expenses are $13,735, and the contract price for the work is $184,829.

There are 16,479 parcels of land within the assessment district. The proceedings are under the provisions of the 1913 Street Improvement Act, whereby five or ten-year bonds for the assessments can be issued upon properties on which there are now no bonds outstanding, provided the owners make application thereto.

MUST LOWER GRADE AND SECURE FRANCHISE.

The Board of Public Works yesterday instructed the City Engineer to present to it today for its adoption a resolution requiring the Pacific Electric Company to bring its four-track line on Long Beach avenue to the official street grades at all street crossings, and also ordering the company to make application within thirty days for a franchise for validating two lines of this system for which, it is declared, there are no existing franchises. The company is to be notified that it must secure a franchise for these two tracks or tear them up.

As the four-track system on Long Beach avenue crosses many streets, this order would mean that the company must lower its tracks for the entire distance, as it would be impracticable to lower them simply at the street crossings. The tracks, at present, are from two and a half to three feet above the street grades. The Board of Public Works has had under consideration the project of requiring the company to elevate its tracks, and the action of the Board of Public Works requiring that the tracks be brought to grade complicates the situation.

Must Safeguard Bridge.

The City Engineer has reported to the Board of Public Works that the widening of the channel of the Los Angeles River by the storms of last February will compel the underpinning of the abutments and west channel pier of the Aliso-street bridge. As it will take several months to complete this work, and it would be very embarrassing to have autumn rains commence before the underpinning was completed, the City Engineer asks that bids on the work be advertised for immediately.

It is estimated that the cost of the work will be $10,500, but no payments will become due before August 1, so that these may be taken care of in the next fiscal budget.

Proceedings Satisfactory.

Although the City Council has passed a resolution providing for the printing of $1,422,000 of the $5,500,000 power bond issue, this resolution requires the signature of the Mayor, and such signature is lacking. The document requires also under lock and key in the Mayor's office, awaiting assurance from the bond expert firm of Dillon, Thompson & Clay that the bonds are approved.

The Mayor sent to the City Attorney yesterday a letter in which he stated that he is holding the resolution until such assurance is received and asking the City Attorney if he has such assurance.

City Attorney Stephens stated yesterday afternoon that he had just received a letter from the New York firm, in which it is declared that the legality of the proceedings has been determined satisfactorily, after an exhaustive examination, but various additional information is required. The firm requests that it be informed as to the nature of the communications made with the Council prior to the calling of the election. Among these were the requests of the Chamber of Commerce, the Municipal League and other organizations, asking that the bond issues be segregated when they were put before the people for their consideration under a ballot box.

The firm also wants to know whether the city has organized under the thorough system, and it requires a statement from the City Auditor as to the condition of all bond funds, including the sinking fund in connection therewith.

Bids for Roofing.

Bids for roofing materials for the Water-street wharf transit shed have been opened by the Harbor Commission and referred to the City Engineer for his recommendation. Three bidders and the materials were segregated under three headings, so as to secure wide competition. These covered composite roofing complete, composition roofing with white asbestos top complete, and all asbestos roofing complete.

The bids submitted were as follows: John-Manville Company, all asbestos, $14,515; Weaver Roofing Company, $24,440; and the Pacific Electric Company, $22,226, under the first classification and $22,226 under the second. The second bid, under the second classification, was $17,776, first; $17,776, second; $20,445, third; Pioneer Paper Company, $17,776, first; $17,776, second.

The third bid, under the second classification, was $17,776, first; $17,776, second; $20,445, third; Pioneer Paper Company, $17,776, first; $17,776, second.

Cross Town Line.
Sixty days are to be allowed the Los Angeles Railway Corporation within which to complete the Vernon-avenue cross-town line. There remains uncompleted the portion crossing the four-track lines of the Pacific Electric Company on Long Beach avenue.

A long continued controversy has been on as to whether this crossing should be at grade, or the Pacific Electric should be required to raise or lower its tracks. Recently the Board of Public Utilities decided that the cross-town line should lay its tracks at grade at this crossing, but should be required to put in interlocking protective devices. The corporation has asked for six months extension of time, but the Public Utilities Committee of the City Council decided yesterday that sixty days is sufficient. This was approved by the Council.

SAYS CHARGE IS FALSE.

Arrested in San Francisco on what he termed a trumped-up charge, Attorney Henry E. Lee was arraigned before Justice Reeve yesterday morning charged with issuing a check without funds. His preliminary examination was set for next Friday. Lee is mixed up in some way in the Seaside Lake potash pre-agent war. Lee, a Democratic politician, furnished a $1,000 bond and he was released.

CITY LOST PENSION EXAMINER.

M. M. Brower, who has been stationed here as pension examiner for the past eight months, has been ordered to Muskogee, Okla., where he will be stationed for some time. There will be no examiner at Los Angeles until later on, when the need of such an official is more apparent.

WOMAN'S HOME IS HER CASTLE.

EJECTS CONTRACTOR WHO HAS LEASE FROM HUSBAND.

Finding Fence Built About Property and Gate Locked, Holder of Lease Climbs Over and Is Promptly Told to Leave—Asks Court to Give Him Access to Premises.

Mrs. Martha H. De Turk, according to the complaint of N. O. Harmon, a contractor, is holding the fort, meaning thereby her home at Vernon, against him. Although he alleges he has leased the premises from her husband, J. G. De Turk, and has the right to enter them, Mrs. De Turk forbids him going upon them. To this end, he says, when he went there he found that a fence had been built and the gate being locked, he was obliged to scramble over.

He was making measurements when, he alleges, Mrs. De Turk ordered him away. Explanations were apparently of no avail. She told him he could not remain, and, moreover, he could not come there again. Mr. Harmon is now seeking through the courts to restrain Mrs. De Turk or her husband from interfering with his plans, which are to furnish and gravel. They have been ordered by Presiding Judge McCormick to appear in Judge Finlayson's court Monday next, where cause may be taken to show why the premises should not be turned over to Harmon under the lease.

TELL OF BUNCO GAME.

Positive evidence that J. W. Byrnes, charged with grand larceny and on trial before a jury in Judge Finlayson's court, operated fake poolrooms at Hermosa Beach in February and March, 1912, was given by J. A. Torline, an elderly farmer from Sperryville, Kan., and A. N. Koehler, a farmer from Spokane. Mr. Torline testified yesterday that he had been banded out of $500, and Mr. Koehler admitted to losing $1100. This evidence, in connection with the identification of Byrnes by G. P. Friesz, who says he was banded out of a $5000 certificate of deposit at Venice, yesterday completes the case of the prosecution. Several witnesses will be called by the people, among others a former ranch hand of Byrnes, James J. Andrew Secor, who has been waiting to be called.

ACTRESS ASKS DIVORCE.

SUES PLAYWRIGHT SPOUSE.
Mrs. Martha L. Ellis, who appeared on the Orpheum circuit in "The Country Boy," and formerly owned the Orpheum, yesterday asked for a legal separation from Charles H. Ellis, playwright and actor, on the grounds of cruelty. Her complaint was filed yesterday by Attorneys Roy & Yager, and notice by publication will be served upon Mr. Ellis.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellis were married at Des Moines, June 12, 1913. For years they have been familiar to Los Angeles residents, and Mr. Ellis has been a writer of plays. Recently Mrs. Ellis disposed of the Elsinore apartments. She is not asking monetary relief.

MUST MEET NOTE.

WOMAN RANCH OWNER LOSER.
Dr. R. J. Dorsey, who made a vigorous defense against the suit of C. A. and J. J. Merritt to recover the balance on a note given for materials placed on her Big Four ranch in Riverside county, lost the judgment yesterday. Judge Taft holding in favor of the plaintiffs. She contended that the note was a mere loan, and that the materials were for the ranch, and alleged that the pipe was not laid properly.

If the codicil is sustained, the effect will be to give a lease share to the four heirs named under the will. The contest was represented by Attorneys Greer and McMill.

WILL UPHOLD.

CODICIL IN DOUBT.
A will and a codicil disposing of the $20,000 estate of Mrs. Beattie J. Blom brought about a contest between the heirs which was tried and determined as to the will by Judge Rives, yesterday. Under the will Louise Hinkle was given the ranch. The rest of the estate was bequeathed to Birdie Bostwick, Annie Ziegler, Joseph and Florence Ambrose.

The codicil gave equal shares in the house and lot at No. 1294 West Twenty-sixth street, this city, to Louise Hinkle. The testimony showed, however, that the codicil was not signed in the presence of the witnesses. Judge Rives held that the will was a question as to the codicil, but there was no doubt in his mind but that the will itself is good.

If the codicil is sustained, the effect will be to give a lease share to the four heirs named under the will. The contest was represented by Attorneys Greer and McMill.

DENOUNCES GUN CARRIER.

BUT GIVES EASY SENTENCE.
"I think that any man who carries a revolver should be sent to the penitentiary for ten years," said Judge Craig yesterday to William Behrns, convicted of assault with a deadly weapon. "If you had not been carrying such a weapon you would never have tried to shoot a man. The fact that you did not kill him was no fault of yours. But in view of the fact that this is your first offense I am inclined to deal lightly with you, as I believe you have had a severe lesson. You are fined $150 or seventy-five days in jail."

The evidence showed Behrns was intoxicated at the time the shooting occurred. He was standing on the sidewalk and C. S. Phillips approached him and asked him what he was doing. Behrns drew a revolver and fired at Phillips. The bullet passed through the collar of Phillips's coat.

APPRAISE ESTATE.

ALMOST THREE MILLIONS.
Charles Phillips and Frank Sproutling, the late John Wolcott's estate, showed an appraisal of $2,250,000. The inventory gives cash on hand of $250,000, real property in Rancho San Jose de Buenos Ayres, in Riverside and Yolo counties, is listed.

Among Wolcott's investments are listed 1000 shares of the Wells Fargo Nevada Bank, $17,000, and fifty shares of stock of the Security Trust and Savings Bank, $19,750. Mrs.

FORGER UNDER STRESS.

WOMAN GIVEN PROBATION.
Miss Helene Young, who forged a check for $75 to get funds with which to take her dying sister back to the family home in Chicago—so she said—was yesterday placed under probation for one year by Judge Willis.

Judge Willis, in releasing Miss Young, took the attitude that when a person is in great need the violation is not normal and acts are done which the same person in ordinary circumstances would not do. From this premise he reasoned that a person is not entirely responsible for an act committed under circumstances which throw the conscience out of its equilibrium.

Miss Young thanked the judge for his consideration and left the courtroom a free woman.

COURT PARAGRAPHS.

PROCEEDINGS IN BRIEF.
CONTEST CONTINUED. The city of Sierra Madre election contest, on trial in Judge Willis's court, has been continued owing to a death in the family of a close friend of C. C. Montgomery, one of the attorneys in the case. It developed that Louis Dietz, who brought the contest against the trustees elected, had only announced his candidacy the day before election, and lost out by vote. The total vote cast was 156.

DEFENDANTS WIN. The K. and K. Amusement Company, Philip A. Kilfoil and other defendants, were given judgment in the suit of Frank A. Jones to recover $2700 paid down on a theater controlled by the amusement company. Jones alleged misrepresentation, which was denied by the defendants.

JUDGMENT FOR JOY. Merritt F. Lanter, 8 years old, who was bitten by a dog owned by W. B. Dees of Palmetto drive, Pasadena, was given judgment by Judge Taft yesterday in favor of the child. Dees was ordered to pay the amount of $2500, but the effects of his teeth are visible on the boy's face. The testimony showed that the animal recently was petting Dees, and tried to show that the boy had slapped the dog when he growled at him. The court will let the amount of damages later. The suit was for $2500.

LAW REACHES HIM. The law reached out and clutched W. B. Wilson, who was wanted for failing to pay his wife $40 a month for her support, and asked him what he was doing. Wilson, who was working on a ranch in Tulare county, was brought here and yesterday placed under $2000 bonds, which he could not furnish.

remain with the Presbyterian church, and a congregation will be built up in connection with the country. The Rev. George F. LeClair, who represents the presbytery in the matter, says there never was any misunderstanding about the debt in it, and if the congregation had remained intact the debt would have been paid as agreed.

DADDY WAS A FIGHTER.
EVANGELIST MADE IN CITY.
Evangelist Albert Mace of London, son of the famous English prize fighter, Jem Mace, is a visitor in the city. He is making a flying trip across the country, on his return to England, and will conduct a series of Bible expositions at the Y.M.C.A., beginning Sunday afternoon at 2:30, when he will speak at the men's meeting. Tuesday evening at 6:30 he will be a guest at the supper of the Y.M.C.A. Brotherhood, to which ladies are also invited, and on Wednesday and Thursday evenings he will address audiences of both men and women. He is credited with being one of the foremost expositors of the scriptures in England.

FINDS LONG-LOST RING.
After having been lost to her for a year, a ring which her husband gave her at the time of their engagement, was returned yesterday to Mrs. E. J. Loeb, wife of a Los Angeles attorney living at No. 815 Kingsley drive.

The ring, a beautiful diamond in a gold band, was lost by Mrs. Loeb as she was playing on the beach at Venice. For a whole day Mr. and Mrs. Loeb searched, and until yesterday had given up hope of recovering the gem. The ring was found in a Venice pawn shop, where it had been found by a man who had purchased it on the beach. It was identified by the numbers "1352" engraved on the inside of the band and returned to Mrs. Loeb by Detective Cowan.
